ARCHAEOLOGY STORY TIME AT THE LIBRARY

(Panama City, Fla.) Archaeology Story Time will be held at the Bay County Public Library Youth Services Department on February 26th at 3:00 p.m. In honor of Black History Month, the Florida Public Archaeology Network will be reading Dave the Potter: Artist, Poet, Slave by Laban Carrick Hill, winner of the Coretta Scott King 2011 Illustrator Award. Program is free to attend and geared for elementary aged students.

Archaeology Story Time will introduce kids and parents to archaeology and why pottery is an important clue for archaeologist today. After learning about the true story of Dave the Potter, kids will learn how and why people painted pottery in the past. The hands-on activity allows kids to paint their own pieces of pottery to take home.
